What is PM² Foundation

PM² as project management methodology is currently at version 3.01 and defines a clear and bespoke governance structure, has a phased approach and a very valuable and helpful set of supporting document templates for running projects. In its basis PM² is 'founded' on established best practices approaches to project management but other than most also addresses the challenge of not only deliver project results but also the benefits.

Who should attend PM² Foundation

This training is intended for everyone that is involved in projects undertaken in an European or public sector context using PM² both from the Business (user) or Solution Providers perspective.

This training helps contractors, independent professionals and service suppliers to public sector organisations using PM² to prepare for their role.

Prerequisites

Prior knowledge and/or experience in projects and/or projectmanagement at a basic level is preferred as the training focuses on the particularities of PM² more than offering a basic Project Management training.

Objectives

This course introduces key Project Management concepts in the context of the PM² Methodology. It enables participants to:

- Obtain the foundation knowledge necessary for using effectively the PM² Project Management Methodology
